

DAILY RADIO PROGRAM

Friday, July 1.

Noah Swayne, a newcomer in radio circles, will be featured in the next Philco Hour, to be broadcast by WJZ and the Blue Network on Friday night. Mr. Swayne, who is a singer of ballads and old-time heart-throb songs, will be supported in this program by the Philco Orchestra under the direction of Walter G. Haenschel. The Clites Service Concert Orchestra and the Cavaliers Male Quartet will provide a delightful hour of songs and music for the pleasure of those tuning to WJZ or some other station of the Red Network. July 1 is Dominion Day in Canada and so KOA has arranged an excellent program of Canadian music which will be interpreted by the Denver Municipal Band through the microphone of KOA. Other highlights scheduled for this evening are the Crandall Mandolin Club concert through WJZ, a program of German folk songs sung by Hans Herz through WNYC, Vienna, a song and story through WOR, the Suffolk Symphony Orchestra concert through WBZ, and an entertainment by the Royal Stenographers, who are taking the place of the Hero, Heroine and Musicians, through WJZ and other stations of the Blue Network.

Wave lengths in meters on left of station title, kilocycles on the right. Times are Eastern Daylight Saving and Eastern Standard. Black type indicates best features.

State Pays for Dry Referendum

Mark Sampson, clerk of the board of elections for Ulster county, has received from the state a check for $1,267.72 to reimburse the county for the cost of conducting the prohibition referendum at the last general election. The check has been turned over to the county treasurer for deposit.

The prohibition referendum in the county cost approximately the amount which the county has been reimbursed. A bill was sent to the state officials last February and the last legislature made an appropriation for the payment of the bills of the counties to reimburse them for the money expended.

KINGSTON, N. Y., JUNE 30, 1927.

In these times of high prices for everything practically everywhere it is a surprise to read of the sale of a Virginia tract of land with a six-mile front on the Atlantic Ocean, for $2.80 an acre.

The Mayor of Princeton, Indiana, says he is the only prohibitionist in the town and gives that as the reason why he has been arrested on a charge of embezzlement. But even a wet town may think it has a right to keep an eye on its public funds.

The ultimatum of 328 convicts barricaded in a Kansas mine is "No cigarettes, no coal." This is the more notable in view of the fact that the free citizens of that state have just acquired the right to smoke cigarettes through the repeal of the law forbidding.

The news columns relate that Josephine Baker, a Harlem negress, after two years of dancing in European cabarets has "become America's first colored countess." It seems that she has announced her marriage to Pepito di Albertini of Rome who, she says, "sure is a count with lots of coats-of-arms and everything." Presumably Josephine earns good money and Pepito has long suffered from the lack thereof.

The reception of Lindbergh by the Parisians inclined us temporarily to forgive the French people their wickedness, but it is inevitable that we are to resume our business of raking them fore and aft now that shocking news has been cabled from their capital—nothing less than the announcement that the French Parliament is studying how to secure for the French people better and cheaper wine with their meals. How can our new entente cordiale, even with its Lindbergh origin, survive such convicting news as that?

Postmaster General New counted on a pretty penny for his department when he asked the public to write letters of congratulation to Lindbergh, and now the Washington announcement of the first printing of fifteen million Lindbergh air mail stamps is accompanied by the statement that "the issue is expected to bring a large profit to the government, as many of the stamps will be kept as souvenirs." Even the government of his country fails to share young Lindbergh's indifference to pecuniary gain in consequence of his feat.

PARKED CHILDREN.

The latest thing in foreign travel convenience is the offer of executives of the "come to Britain" movement to take care of American youngsters while parents tour the continent of Europe. Schools and hotels are provided where the children may be safely left, under excellent care. It is said that a great many requests already have come from Americans who are delighted at the chance to park their children in this way.

In case of illness, parents will be only a day or two away from their offspring. Grandparents and other relatives back home will have an easier summer than they would have if the children were left with them. As for the youngsters themselves they should have a fine time if their care is properly provided for.

Suitable companionship, recreation and a moderate amount of sight-seeing ought to be on their program. Parents must be very careful to see that all conditions and arrangements are right. We don't want a lot of homesick little travel orphans stranded for the summer in England. Unless the proposed "parking" is going to benefit the children as well as release the parents, it should not be practised.

LINDBERGH BOOKS.

The rapidity of the production of Lindbergh books is almost as remarkable as the extent of the popular tribute to the air hero himself. It seems that some of them have already appeared and others are about to pour forth in a flood. The first one that leaped out of the printer's press while the hero still rode in triumphant procession was quickly made up from newspaper stories and from answers to inquiries received by "wire, wireless and air mail." Granted a large and devoted force of day-and-night writers and printers, the achievement is conceivably possible. Considerably more amazing was the prompt announcement of the Putnam publishing house that "We" by Col. Charles Lindbergh, a book of 60,000 words, contained no newspaper reprint whatever, but is an altogether original story "written in his (Lindbergh's) own handwriting." Col. Lindbergh, according to the publishers, "slaved at this task despite the extraordinary demands made upon his time."

"Slaved" would seem to be the proper word, for to write a 60,000 word book within a few days while being lionized by great cities is no picnic. How did he find the time? If the Putnams are sure of their facts, Charles Lindbergh is a more wonderful young man than even a wildly acclaiming world has believed.

BLISSFUL LIGHTING.

An optimistic reporter, writing up the household lighting effects achieved by experts of a school of lighting, rhapsodizes as follows: "If plans of lighting experts are generally adopted, divorces will disappear from the courts, girls will never wander from home, youth will cool off and home life will reach a rosy come of bliss."

Of course it will take more than healthful and beautiful lighting systems to achieve all those desirable results. Nevertheless, the right sort of lighting in the home inevitably has an effect on the health and dispositions of the members of the family and consequently influences their behavior toward one another.

Time was when a light was a light. Whether it was properly placed from the standpoint of efficiency, light-saving and beauty was not taken into account. Today, however, those things are important. Housewives know that attractive rooms can be enhanced or spoiled by good or bad lighting. Doctors know that eyesight can be protected or ruined by right or wrong lighting. And when it comes to the preserving of good nature, the light over the kitchen sink that makes culinary tasks pleasanter for mother and the light at chin level that makes shaving pleasanter for father are bound to prevent many a family jar.

BACK ACHE.

I like to talk occasionally about pain in the lower back, because the number of individuals suffering therefrom is indeed great.

Just why some folks think all lower back pain is due to kidney trouble, is because they think of the kidneys as being in the lower back, whereas they are much higher up.

A simple method of getting a general idea of their location is to bend the arm at the elbow and let forearm lie across the back. The forearm will be over the kidneys.

As a matter of fact most of these lower back pains are due to an infection in the joint between the hip bone and the last spine bone, or between the second of last and the last bone of the spine.

In the majority of cases it is due to infection from teeth and tonsils. One other cause, and one that is seldom thought of is that these joints can be sprained just as can the ankle, knee, or other joint. It is estimated by Boston specialists that perhaps twenty-five per cent of these backaches are due to sprain.

There is this point also to remember, and that is that one might have an infection in the joint, have the offending teeth or tonsils removed and get relief, and some months or years afterwards, sprain the joint and set up a new irritation.

So severe are some of these lower back pains, extending often down into the sciatic nerve in hip and leg, that very severe measures for relieving same have been suggested.

Dr. C. E. Ayres of Worcester, Mass., says that the most effective way of dealing with this condition is to actually fasten the bones together and prevent any movement there whatever.

Now if movement is prevented or limited, there should be a relief from pain and perhaps such a surgical procedure is sometimes necessary.

However in the majority of these cases, as treated at the Massachusetts General Hospital, Boston, a simple tight strapping with two inch adhesive from a point an inch below the point of the hip bone on one side, across the lower back to the same point on other side, gives great relief. After about six days, the strapping is removed, and a supporting belt adjusted. This is worth months so that the movement in joint is limited and the pain, even on exertion, gradually disappears.

Don't suffer with backache. Let your doctor find out whether it is an infection or an injury, and give you appropriate treatment.

BLEAK PACIFIC ISLE MAY SOLVE ORIGIN OF INDIANS

Primitive People on Nantuxuk May Be Connecting Link With Ancient Mongolians.

Anchorage, Alaska.—Far out in Bering sea lies Nantuxuk island. On this bleak bit of land, 70 miles long by perhaps 50 wide, lives a tribe or tribes of people who may be the link connecting the American Indians with the people of ancient Mongolia.

Washed on all sides by treacherous shoals and beaten continually by roaring, pitching surf, ships have always given Nantuxuk island a wide berth. Only once a year the government cutters or the Boxer of the United States bureau of education dare send a boat ashore.

The landing parties always came back with tales of the most primitive peoples in Alaska. The natives are divergent from the mainland tribes and retain many of the ancient customs of the original native.

If they came directly from Siberia or Mongolia there will be something on the island to connect them with the Asiatic land. Noted scientists, Henry B. Collier and T. Dale Stewart, both of Washington, D. C., are aboard the Boxer en route to Nantuxuk. They will try to discover how long man has inhabited the island. To do this they intend to dig deep into the old soil, turn out the sepulchers, and unearth utensils, weapons, and relics to add to museum collections.

The scientists will make measurements of the native physique, records of their language and observations of tribal customs and art. The Nantuxuk tribes have lived on the island for hundreds of years, with comparatively little contact with white man's civilization. It is expected they will possess furs, caribou, ivory, and perhaps gold to barter for trade goods.

With music and magic tricks the scientists hope to win their confidence and procure aid in the search from now until late September of ethnological data. A study of the fauna and flora of the island will be made by the scientists.

Bargain in Train Fares

Hits Even Baby Buggies

Glasgow, Scotland.—Merry-go-rounds and even the donkeys in the children's playgrounds have been hard hit by the bargain-rate fare of the Glasgow tramways, which give a two-hour ride for a fraction less than 4 cents.

Baby carriage manufacturers, too, have been affected by the cheap rate tickets. Their business has fallen off because mothers have found it convenient to allow the nurse to take baby for a street-car ride instead of pushing the youngster about the park. This innovation also has had a tendency to make the nurses more content with their tasks and saves shoe leather besides.

Since the twenty-one mile ride for two coppers was inaugurated last July more than 60,000,000 passengers have made use of it—an increase of 13,000,000 over the previous year—and given the corporation an additional revenue of $55,000.

Automobile and motor cycle dealers who specialized in little family cars designed for the average working man say their business has suffered more than the baby carriage trade, because a car ride now is cheaper than buying gasoline.

Spanish Mayor Learns

Women Can't Be Bossed

Almendralejo, Spain.—The mayor of this mountain town near the Portuguese frontier is determined to save his woman constituents from the taint of short skirts and bobbed hair despite their assertions that they don't wish to be saved.

But his honor, Senor Francisco Montero de la Barrera, has adopted new tactics. He has abandoned his proposal to fine women who appear on the streets in short hair or abbreviated skirts. Instead he will present this year prizes to the two most charming maidens of his city of 13,000 inhabitants who maintain the old-fashioned long hair and skirts.

British Doctor Explains

That Gum Chewing Habit

Birmingham, Eng.—There's a reason for chewing gum, it appears from an article written by Dr. W. J. Barnes Selkirk, in the British Medical Journal. "Presumably," declares the writer, "it is analogous in effect to the baby's comforter. It seems capable of producing even the state of mind of the ruminating cow and its Buddhist calm." The doctor also suggests that gum can be offered as a substitute for cigarettes to excessive smokers, that it is useful in curing the "chocolate habit," and that it acts as a sedative for frayed nerves and insomnia.

30,000 School Children

Die on Roads in 5 Years

Washington.—Thirty thousand school children, most of them less than thirteen, were killed on the highways during the five-year period ending January 1, 1927, the American Red Cross association stated recently. A survey of accident conditions over this period revealed that more than 2,000,000 persons had been sent to hospitals as a result of street and highway accidents, in addition to the loss of more than 100,000 lives.

MRS. POUTER PIGEON

You may think it very strange, but there was once a little rabbit named Pigeon.

You see his mother was very friendly with Mrs. Pouter Pigeon. There had been a time when Mrs. Pouter Pigeon had hurt her left wing, and she had not been able to fly.

She cried and cried when this happened, and Mother Rabbit, who was very kind hearted, hurried to her right away.

"Why, what is the trouble, Mrs. Pouter Pigeon?" asked Mother Rabbit.

"Oh," sobbed Mrs. Pouter Pigeon, "I have fallen and hurt myself terribly! I won't be able to get out of the reach of bigger animals who may want to injure me, and I might be eaten up and I don't want to be eaten up."

"What is the Trouble?"

At that she burst into more sobs. "Well, to tell you the truth," said Mother Rabbit, "I don't believe there is a creature living who wants to be eaten up."

"But you may come and live with us and I will see that you are protected," said Mrs. Pouter Pigeon. "I don't want to live with Mother Rabbit."

They became very friendly and attached to one another.

And then when the little bunny rabbit was born his mother said:

"Now I shall name him Pigeon after you, Mrs. Pouter Pigeon."

And Mrs. Pouter Pigeon strutted about and said:

"You have not only saved my life by having me come and live with you, but now you are paying me a fine compliment."

And you know the pouter pigeons love to be flattered.

In fact, a little praise is good for every one.

But I haven't told you about little Pigeon's adventures.

One day, when it was nice and sunny and warm he thought he would go for a walk.

So off he started, and it was not long before he found the most wonderful clover field.

He took home just quantities of the clover, enough to enable his mother to give a dinner party and invite all her friends to it, and he left enough in the field so they could come back for more.

So that was a very happy adventure.

She Knew Sheep

A city young woman went out to teach a country school. The class in arithmetic was before her. She said:

"Now, children, if there are ten sheep on one side of a wall and one jumps over, how many sheep will be left?"

Then up piped a little tow-headed daughter of a farmer:

"No sheep, teacher; no sheep."

"Oh, oh, cried the city young woman reproachfully. 'You are not so stupid as that! Think again. If there were ten sheep on one side of the wall and one jumped over, nine sheep would be left. Don't you see that?'"

"No! no! no!" persisted the child. "If one sheep jumped over the others would jump after. My father keeps sheep."

Then, seeing the puzzled look on the teacher's face, the little tow-head explained apologetically: "You know arithmetic, but I know sheep."

Please, Pardon Me

Little George's mother had carefully trained him to say, "Please excuse me." This sufficed very well until one day he heard some one say, "Please, pardon me." He was much taken with this new expression and used it upon all occasions.

One morning when his mother was stepping out of the house for a few moments, she admonished George to be good to his smaller brother Roger.

"All right, mother," George replied. "I'll be good to Roger. If I hit Roger, I'll say, 'Pardon me!'"

Kills Pesky Bed-Bugs
Roaches and Ants

Doctors declare that bed-bugs, roaches and other vermin are the most to be feared means of spreading such diseases as consumption, spinal meningitis and other infectious troubles. There is no disgrace in getting bed-bugs in your home, because that can't be avoided. But it is a disgrace to permit them to remain and thrive when it is so easy to get rid of them with the new chemical compound, P.D.Q., which quickly puts an end to these pesky devils.

A Million Bed-Bugs
A 35-cent package of this golden chemical will make a most of a mixture that is so deadly to bed-bugs that it would kill a million of them if you could get that many together. Instantly it smothered and annihilates the living creatures, coats their eggs and stops them from hatching and multiplying.

Will Not Damage Goods
P.D.Q. will not injure delicate fabrics, clothing, carpets, furniture, bedding, wall paper or woodwork. In fact, it is often used as a deodorizer and disinfectant.

Ourselves and Industry

Competition and Cooperation
By E. E. LINCOLN

We frequently hear the saying, "Competition is the life of trade." It is equally true at times that competition is the death of trade. Several generations ago practically all business activities were so closely regulated by governmental bodies and so burdened with unnecessary and uneconomic restrictions that industrial development was almost impossible.

More than a century ago there was a violent reaction against government interference. Then public sentiment began to swing gradually to the opposite extreme, and during most of the nineteenth century industry was carried on largely under conditions of so-called laissez faire—that is, freedom from government intervention.

This freedom led to a high degree of competition in industry, which in the United States brought about unusually rapid industrial development during the latter part of the nineteenth century and the early part of the present century. However, unrestricted freedom is always in danger of being abused unless unusual intelligence is possessed by business men. It was gradually found that innumerable ways so-called "free competition" frequently led to sharp practices and to exploitation of the weak by the strong.

Our federal government has in the past generation recognized some of the evils of "cut-throat" competition, and of those monopolies in restraint of trade which very frequently develop as the sequel to unrestrained competition. Accordingly, a good deal of legislation has been passed relating to these questions and applicable to all types of industry. Some of this legislation has probably served a real social good, and some of the laws have undoubtedly been harmful, either because of their uneconomic intent or because of the manner in which they have been applied.

However, the public, that is, all of us, do no longer believe that unrestrained competition is necessarily ideal, or that it always leads to greater productivity and lower prices. And the people's voice will be heard on this question.

It is not the purpose here to discuss the mooted question as to what constitutes "fair" competition. It may be briefly stated that from a sound social point of view that competition is "fair" which results ultimately in the creation of the most satisfaction or "real income" for all of us; and that competition is unfair which decreases the sum total of our enjoyable goods and services.

Within these broad limits it has been clearly recognized that local public utilities, such as electric light and power plants, gas supply systems, street railways, and telephones, can be most economically carried on, with the lowest aggregate investment, and can give the best service consistent with lowest prices to the consumer, if they are operated as "monopolies," subject to public regulation. This means that they will be allowed to charge rates only high enough to yield a "fair" return upon a "fair" investment. In regulating such enterprises the present tendency is, and should be, to allow some premium for superior efficiency in management.

The important thing to remember is that while the social wastes of unrestrained and unintelligent competition are vast, real gains arise from intelligent rivalry in business, conducted on a high plane. If business will conduct itself on the basis of cooperative competition, and will intelligently regulate its own affairs, as it is clearly able to do, then after a time there will be little need for government intervention.

The people of the United States, through the silent revolution in ownership which is now going on, and because of the broader dissemination of economic knowledge, are beginning to understand the facts of industry. And we consumers, that is, "the public," will be satisfied if and when we feel sure that we are getting the most possible amount of goods and services for every dollar which we spend.—Western Electric News.

BOY'S PLEA WINS FATHER FREEDOM

Induces Judge to Suspend Sentence With Story of Family's Suffering.

Detroit, Mich.—Though only eleven, Walter Kios pleaded a case in court, and won it. The case was an important one, too, from the standpoint of the Kios family, for if Walter had lost his father, Frank, would have spent 30 days in the house of correction.

Kios was brought before Judge Frank Murphy on complaint of his wife, Mary, who accused him of non-support. His record was against him. He had been fined twice for disorderly conduct and once sent to jail for 30 days because he violated his probation following conviction for non-support.

"Thirty days," said Judge Murphy after hearing the testimony.

Mrs. Kios burst into tears, protesting she had only wished to frighten her husband.

Mother Frantic.

"I'll go right home and kill myself," she cried, "if he has to go to jail. He's been out of work, and I thought maybe he'd try harder to find a job if I had him arrested. He got a job the other day, and now he will lose it if he has to go to jail."

Walter translated his mother's words to Frank L. Nolan, court clerk, who relayed them to Judge Murphy. The court was adamant. Weeping forlornly, Mrs. Kios left the courtroom, accompanied by another son, Harry, eight.

"If you'd only let daddy out this time he'd never be in court again," said Walter to Mr. Nolan as he turned to go.

The clerk reported this statement to Judge Murphy.

"Well, bring them back," said the judge.

Mr. Nolan overtook Mrs. Kios and brought her back before Judge Murphy. Mrs. Kios does not speak English, so Walter saw the matter was in his hands. He had been taught to hold courts and policemen in the greatest respect. His knees trembled, but he put down his fear and spoke clearly and at length.

He said his father was really the only support of the family.

Wine is Judge.

"I have a brother, Frank, and he's sixteen years old and has a job," he said, "but he doesn't get much money and now he's buying a new suit. He won't be able to help much. Dad is all right, when he has a job. He takes good care of us. But he hasn't had a job all winter, and it's been terrible."

"We didn't have enough clothes nor enough food nor enough heat in the house. Now dad has a job. We thought maybe we'd be able to have some new clothes. Mother says he'll lose his job if he goes to jail. She says he'll never be in court again if you let him go."

Judge Murphy deliberated a moment, and said:

"On the motion of the youngest advocate who ever appeared before me, I will vacate my order and release the defendant from the house of correction. Sentence will be suspended."

Kios had already been taken to the house of correction. A few minutes later, Mrs. Kios, Walter and Harry, arrived there with an order for his release, and the four went home.

12,000 Indians Live

by Fishing Activities

Minneapolis, Minn.—Fishing, primitive industry of the American Indian, still constitutes a principal means of livelihood for the 12,000 aborigines of Minnesota.

Almost every month in the year finds them along the creeks, employing members of their families, headed by the squaw, to raise and lower the nets and to seine under state supervision for rough fish.

One of the biggest fishing projects in the state is a packing plant supplied entirely by the red man. It is on Red Lake in northern Minnesota and it packs annually thousands of choice fish caught by the Indians and shipped to all parts of the country.

Reindeer to Be

Food in France

Paris—France is about to take a leaf from Alaska's book and raise reindeer for food.

The first herd has already been shipped to Montebell-Salerno, in the department of Savoie, and others will be experimented with in neighboring Alpine districts.

The steadily rising cost of beef and mutton, caused by the domestic shortage and the increasing necessity of importing from abroad, induced the experiment. It is pointed out that reindeer can be grown on land that is otherwise more or less unproductive and that the cost of raising is no more than for ordinary live stock.

Hotel proprietors in the Alps plan to use the growing reindeer to amuse their guests in delightful and delicious, a form of winter sport that has grown greatly in favor recently.

THE VELVETEEN COAT GOES TRAVELING AND OFTEN TOPS A FIGURED OR CHECKED DRESS OF TONAL BLEND—IRREGULARITIES OF LINE EXTEND TO HAT BRIMS.

New York.—The question of travel togs is uppermost in everyone's mind. What to wear on board steamers, on trains, motors, and what not, is the burning question of the day, with vacation days at hand. Sports clothes and travel clothes should be synonymous terms, if they are not. Fussily-dressed travelers are an abomination, yet one may indulge in bright colors to one's heart's content. Coats may be of bright velveteen and in strong contrast yet in harmony with the dresses they top, or they may be of the hundred and one novelty woolsens, many of which are in novelty weaves.

piece dress that is intended for sea-faring or for rough usage. The top coat without fur collar is preferred at the moment to the coat with fur, unless it is gazelle or some flat lying felt. Reptile skins and leather vie with such pelts in smartness.
A well chosen ensemble is the best traveling companion, and if they are in the color scheme, brown shoes are preferred to black. Two-tone shoes are not out of order. Never walk the deck in high heels; it is not only a dangerous proceeding, but is not in good taste. Novelty woolsens or lisle hose, or mixtures of these with silk, and slip-on chamois or washable kid gloves are advised. A silk scarf or a bandana is also in better taste than an animal scarf for life on the ocean waves.

NEVER saw clothes get clean so easily—and so safely!
I just took my week's wash in the rich, mild Rinso suds. Rinso soaks out the dirt and stains. They float right off by themselves, and I haven't a bit of hard rubbing to do.
Rinso is a different kind of laundry soap—guaranteed. It's so economical. It's all used on washday. No bar soaps, chips or powders. Rinso alone makes our water wonderfully soapy.
It's so easy on my hands, too. They don't get red now, as they did with old-fashioned soaps and powders.
My friend tells me Rinso is great in her washer. The makers of 30 leading machines endorse it.

For luncheon

At company luncheons a salad, of course. But why not make your own lunch a treat, too, by adding Ivanhoe Mayonnaise to any of the "left-overs" in the ice box... This for instance:

- 1/2 cup diced cold left-over meat
  - 1/2 cup diced celery—3 slices
  - 1 diced Bermuda onion
  - Diced carrots, beets, potatoes, (any cold vegetables you have)
- Cover with Ivanhoe and enjoy.

For tea

...probably all women... so critical... so enthused over "something different." Win their admiration with this sandwich:

- 3 tomatoes diced and drained
  - 10 stuffed olives diced
  - 1 small onion diced
  - 3 hard boiled eggs diced
- Mix with mayonnaise and put between thin slices of white bread.

and for dinner

Which? A light, fruity salad which will do double duty as a dessert, or a crunchy, filling one... Try this for hearty deliciousness:

- 1 cup cold potato diced
  - 1 cup cold diced carrots or green beans
  - 1 small onion diced
  - 1 large green pepper diced
- Mix with Ivanhoe, chill, serve on crisp lettuce.

Columbia's Young Crew Captures Coveted Crown

After 13 Years of Famine Columbia Wins Four Mile Race on Hudson—Great Credit For Glendon—Washington Lost Little Prestige.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 30 (P).—Columbia was out of the intercollegiate rowing wilderness today on the sweep of the Glendon stroke.

After thirteen long years of famine, seasons in which hopes had been lifted high only to fall shattered when the big test came, the New Yorkers found the magic touch yesterday and won the intercollegiate varsity four mile championship with the youngest crew that ever battled for Poughkeepsie's blue ribbon of rowing.

Since 1914, when Columbia last won the varsity title, her crews have had a habit of cracking at critical moments. This year's 19 year old aggregation not only refused to crack but rowed the heart out of the crack California eight and the Naval Academy, twin favorites before the race; then flashed a startling exhibition of finishing grit and speed to beat off the final challenge of the championship Washington crew.

The Washingtonians went down like the champions they were, fighting, but they were mastered by a crew that harnessed speed, form and steadiness with an unconquerable spirit and a strategy ordinarily reserved for oarsmen far beyond their tender years.

Victory Like Fiction. The victory of this startling Columbia combination was dime novel stuff. It out did the most heroic stories of youthful fiction. Its achievement, in only two years of coaching by "Rich" Glendon, the head coach, and his father, "Old Dick," originator of the Glendon stroke, reflected remarkable tribute to the teaching skill of these masters, whose system produced three championship Poughkeepsie eights at the Navy before going to Columbia.

Six of the eight victorious oarsmen, in addition to their little coxswain, were in the championship freshmen crew developed by Glendon last season. Most of them came to Columbia with little or no previous rowing experience, with the exception of their captain and sophomore stroke, Eric Lambert of New York. They had been beaten over short distances earlier in the season by Yale, Princeton and the Naval Academy.

But Poughkeepsie was their main objective. In reaching it these sophomores, aided by one junior and one senior, outrowed six of the country's most formidable crews, while Lambert outgeneraled and outstruck some of the greatest oarsmen of this day, among them the Navy's famous pace-setter, Tom Eddy.

Where the Navy had been picked as the crew to bring the varsity crown back to the east, it furnished an upset as startling as was Columbia's victory.

The sailors were a poor fourth, six lengths behind the victors; barely able to beat out Cornell and Syracuse, which were only a second apart in a battle for fifth place won by the Ithacans.

Huskies Lost Little Prestige.

Washington lost little prestige even if the Huskies did lose the varsity title. They won the three mile junior varsity race for the third straight year, leading Columbia by three lengths in record breaking time. Their varsity, as runner up, kept intact the Husky record of never being worse than second in six straight years. They have won three times and been runnerup as many others.

There was almost as much joy for Washington in conquering its Pacific coast rival decisively as there would have been in leading the whole field home. Reversing their early season result, the Huskies were three lengths ahead of the Golden Bears, who led for two of the first three miles, but faltered as Columbia and Washington came fast in the final mile. California was third to the same brace of rivals in the junior varsity race but finished a poor sixth in the freshman race.

The Navy salvaged its only triumph in this freshman event when the crackables outrowed Syracuse, with Columbia, Cornell, Pennsylvania, California and Wisconsin trailing in that order.

ADVISES DEMPSEY TO BE RIGHT AND CAREFUL.

Chicago, June 30 (P).—Jim Maloney, endeavoring to work his way back to prominence as a heavy-weight contender, offered some advice to Jack Dempsey today on the eve of Maloney's match with Bud Gorman at White Sox Park tonight. "Dempsey is going up against the master left hand in meeting Jack Sharkey," said Maloney. "Sharkey is a cool, calculating fighter who not only worries you in the ring with his punches but with his talk as well. My advice to Dempsey is to be right and then be careful."

Hutton A. C. Wins.

The Hutton A. C. trounced the Kingston Cubs at the Hutton diamond Wednesday night, 17-3. Guy Meyers, star pitcher of the Cubs had to be relieved in the fifth inning by Subello. Joe Myers did the catching for the Cubs. The winning battery was composed of Hains and Bowman. The Huttons will take on the Clermonts tonight and Friday will stack up against the Pan-Ams. Teams who wish to book games with the Huttons may call 1244-W.

No Room for Doubt. The medical authority who says that many of the world's ill are the result of poor health might have added that such of the world's number is traceable to Vicks.

Glasscock Visits Old-Time Playgrounds

Out at Dunn field, Detroit, the other day, Jack Glasscock shook hands with Joe Sewell, shortstop for the Cleveland Indians. You don't remember Jack. Few fans of today do. But he played shortstop on the Cleveland team from 1878 until 1884. When Jack played, shortstops did not wear gloves.

"I wonder what they would do without gloves today?" asked Jack.

Jack was a fine fielder and a great batter. He believed Jack Keefe would have fooled Babe Ruth. Pitchers were only 45 feet from the batter's box in those days.

Glasscock, who now lives in Wheeling and is sixty-five years of age, played with Cleveland, St. Louis and New York in the big leagues and in several minor leagues. One of Jack's proudest possessions is a medal given him in 1883 for leading the Cleveland club in scoring runs.

GEHRIG'S STAR IS RISING RAPIDLY

Soon May Show Luster That Will Dim Babe Ruth's.

If the New York Yankees are looking for a $70,000-a-year slugger to keep on their pay roll when Babe Ruth passes from the picture they need look no further than first base.

As a matter of fact Henry Louis Gehrig—the boys call him "Buster"—seems in a fair way to replace Ruth as the club's leading slugger this year, unless the Babe strikes a swifter stride than he has shown so far.

It takes only a glance at the figures to reveal how potent Gehrig's bat has become. The other day he was leading the league in batting, runs scored, hits, and was tied with one or more rivals in all three extra-base specialties.

Gehrig, a left-hander, not only hits for distance but pulls the wallops to left as well as right field. He is one of New York's own diamond products and Columbia's most famous baseball alumnus since Eddie Collins. Like Ruth, Gehrig was a good pitcher but he did not follow this specialty in the majors. He is twenty-four years old and weighs 200. His legs are better proportioned to his weight than Ruth's.

Bill Sherdel Continues Unluckiest of Pitchers

Billy Sherdel, the slow-ball artist of the St. Louis Cardinals, continues to be one of the unluckiest pitchers in big league baseball.

Billy's average as far as games won and lost are concerned is better than that of the world champions with whom he has served during the past decade. But this is due entirely to his own crafty flinging—for Sherdel is one pitcher for whom the Cardinals all too frequently fail to make runs.

In the world's series in which the Cards have participated, the slow-ball hurler worked two magnificent games, one of which went ten innings, but lost them both. The score were 2 to 1 and 3 to 2.

On his first appearance this season, Sherdel held the Cubs to two hits and lost, 1 to 0. Hack Wilson's homer turned the trick.

Somewhat later in the season, Billy let Brooklyn down with three hits. He lost the game, 3 to 0, two of the Robins' runs being for the circuit.

There are the kind of "breaks" accorded the best slow-ball pitcher in baseball.

Inventor of the Modern Golf Ball Still Living

Golf is "an ancient and honorable game," but the ball with which it is played today is the invention of a man still living. Fully 80 per cent of the golf balls on modern links are made by tools and machinery invented by Francis H. Richards of Stamford, Conn., whose factories are in New York. Mr. Richards holds about 100 patents on golf balls. Perfection, he has about 300 patents on typographic machines, 300 on machine shop tools and 250 on weighing machines. The inventor is seventy-six years old.

BONDOUT A. C. WILL MEET PAN-AMS FRIDAY

The Pan-Ams and the Bondout A. C. will clash at Block Park Friday night and a fast struggle is expected to result. The Pan-Ams met the Bondouts when the Seventh Ward team opened its present season and scored a 3-2 victory over the club in an eleven-inning contest.

Manager Golnek will have Peters and Stelts for mound duty. Joe Hoffman will do the receiving.

The Pan-Ams will have their regular lineup augmented by several stars of the DUBO League, who played with Kingston High School, and a few collegians.

JACK RENAULT GOING TO DEMPSEY CAMP.

New York, June 30 (P).—Jack Renault, ranked as one of the ten best heavyweights, has received a hurry call to Jack Dempsey's fighting camp at Saratoga Lake and expects to report there at once to serve as a sparring partner.

Dempsey's evident desire to swallow the punches of the French-Canadian convinced the most skeptical of the former champion's earnestness and belief in his own ability to handle the best of them and return to the top.

Eggs in the Twigs

The cuckoos make a flat platform of twigs, and lay their blue, rounded eggs, says Nature Magazine. The little ruby-throated hummingbird commences its nest, straddled upon a slender maple twig, or perhaps upon a hemlock bough overhanging a rippling stream.

FAT HAMPERS DEMPSEY IN TRAINING

Fat—gobs of which may be plainly seen in these pictures—is slowing up Jack Dempsey in his initial training sessions at Saratoga, N. Y. He is seen (right) mixing it with a sparring partner, and punching the bag.

One Cent-A-Word Advs. Bring Results

This is the busiest age ever known. But it knows the wisdom of taking time for enjoyment.

Busy smokers of today select Camel as their favorite smoke

PRESENT-DAY people, the fastest workers of all time, claim their right to enjoyment. And they choose Camels for the utmost in smoking pleasure.

Camel is made to please and delight the modern, experienced smoker. It is rolled of the choicest tobaccos grown. It is matchlessly blended for mildness and fragrance in the smoking.

Let Camels demonstrate their goodness and you'll know why the smokers of today choose them over all other cigarettes. For that exalted sense of taste-satisfaction, no other smoke can compare with this one.

Master Plumbers Hear About Credit

Plumbers Accept Central Hudson Suggestion for Selling Gas Merchandise on Time Payment Basis—Other Matters Discussed.

A number of Kingston plumbers met at the Advance Restaurant Tuesday evening to listen to a very interesting talk on credit and credit conditions by Mr. Suskind of the Merchant's Credit Association. Mr. Suskind described the methods of operation of the Association and told of the important place it occupies in the business affairs of the community.

He pointed out that the aim of the association is not to destroy but to build up healthy credit and cited several cases where his organization had been of great help both to local merchants and to the buying public. Much interest was shown by those present in Mr. Suskind's talk, especially as it related to the plumbing business.

The cooperative merchandising plan of the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation, proposed at the meeting two weeks ago, whereby the plumbers will be able to sell gas merchandise on the time payment basis, was further discussed Tuesday evening, and it was unanimously decided to accept the proposition as offered. All present felt that with this plan they can better serve the interests of their many customers and also build up their merchandise sales to a greater volume.

The importance of good plumbing to the community and the necessity of thorough cooperation and a high standard of workmanship throughout the trade were also spoken of at some length.

Another meeting will be held on July 12, at which time the local Master Plumbers' Association will elect officers.

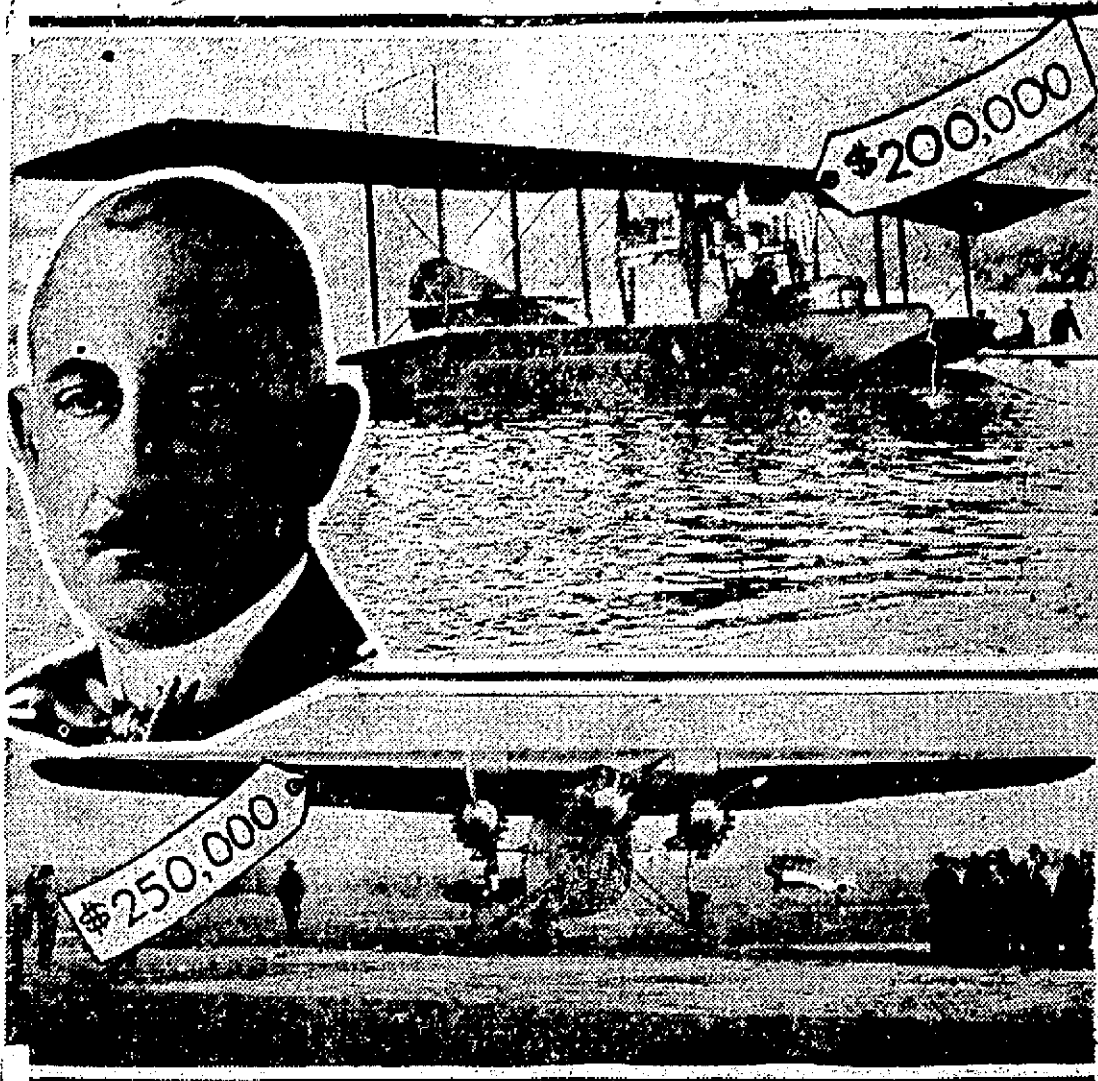

Those present were: Raymond Conway, Henry Wieber, Harry Netburn, Raymond Capnitz, C. Lester Legg, Morris Spitzer, Edward F. Reynolds, Herbert Van Deusen, Edward Coffey, Joseph Pfommer, Charles Dunn, Edward Cusack, Samuel Tinney, Frank Sheridan, John Matthews, Harry Conklin, Edward Crough, Sanford Van Deusen, Mr. Suskind and Messrs. Shepard and

Rodman Wanamaker, New York merchant prince, has spent $450,000 on the two Americas, the seaplane built in 1914, and Commander Byrd's ship of today. Though other ships beat his to Europe, he's satisfied the money has advanced aviation.

Contest Planes Had Exciting Day

Five Fail To Complete Run From Schenectady To Boston—Descend From All Points Out of Rainswept Sky.

Boston, June 30 (AP).—The storm-scattered ships of the third annual National Air Reliability Tour turned their noses toward New York today after the most exciting day thus far in their 4,000 mile jaunt from Detroit.

Five planes failed to complete the run from Schenectady, N. Y., yesterday which was made perilous by fog. They made safe landings, however, in farm yards and elsewhere at points from 50 to 70 miles west of Boston. Their passengers were sent here by train last night and the pilots hoped to be able to hop off today, either for Boston or New York.

Four of these were officially connected with the tour and active contestants for the Edsel Ford trophy and $20,000 in prizes, while the fifth was a Pittsman machine carrying the manager, Ray Cooper.

At the East Boston airport eleven other aircraft had made safe landings, but not without a full measure of adventure that had its unpleasant moments.

Ten of these were in the contest, while the eleventh was the path-finding plane. They descended from all points of the compass, dropping out of a rainswept sky to find warm welcome from a crowd which, stuck despite the inclement weather.

Adventurous Trips. The first one to streak through the 500 foot mist ceiling was a Waco ship piloted by John P. Wood, which had left Schenectady in fifth place shortly after 3:20 o'clock in the afternoon. It arrived here at 4:46. One of the planes had started out to sea before it discovered it had passed the city, another wandered up the north shore in search of bearings. While the last to arrive, a Hamilton metal plane, made port at 7:18, after the most adventurous trip of all.

A forced landing during the storm, "somewhere in Massachusetts" was occasioned by a "minor mechanical mishap." The ship rose again, but went so far off its course that when the pilot brought it down to refuel he discovered he was at Newport, R. I., six miles southeast of here.

All of the machines which made forced landings did so safely, and there was but one serious accident of the day. The huge tri-motored Ford transport, carrying eight persons, cracked a cylinder in her nose motor, and was forced to complete the trip on the remaining two. Mechanics worked throughout the night to make it possible for it to be ready for the take off at 11 o'clock daylight time this morning.

The air tour started Monday from Detroit with 27 planes. The first stop was at Buffalo, and on Tuesday the flotilla continued to Geneva and Schenectady, making the 165 mile hop here after a four hour delay due to adverse weather reports.

Lake Katrine Grange Entertains

Lake Katrine, June 30.—Sixteen members of the Southside Grange, Eastport, L. I., were entertained here last Friday. The party was met at the boat by the committee of arrangements: Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kukuk, Mrs. Frank Brink, Mr. and Mrs. William Hookey, Mr. and Mrs. Horton Pierson. They were escorted to the Fair Grounds where some of the committee members had an appointment to arrange for the Ulster County Pageant to be given Thursday. Upon their arrival at the local Grange Hall they were welcomed by about seventy-five Grangers and served with supper. A program was next enjoyed in the upper hall.

Mr. Kukuk, chairman, introduced Worthy Master Bogert, who in his talk said that as the visitors were in a country district the usual custom of presenting them with the key to the community as done by officials of municipalities could not be carried out but told the guests that the freedom of Mr. Marion, Flatbush and this place was theirs.

Worthy Master Raynor of Southside, who enjoys the distinction of being one of the youngest masters in the state spoke briefly in response to Worthy Master Bogert's words.

Worthy Pomona Master Harold Story next extended greetings from the county and said that as far as freedom was concerned he would extend the visitors the full measure of all God's outdoors.

The entertainment consisted of the following: Song, "Oh! Brother, what a Feeling" and several stunts; recitation, "Give Me a Handsome Man," Mrs. Eva Dederick; series tableaux entitled, "Ruth and Naomi," "Patriotism," "The Sower," "Rock of Ages," "Hope, Fidelity and Patrons of Husbandry." The participants were the Misses Hazel Woods, Winifred Shields, Harriet Ten Broeck, Gertrude and Elsie Shipman, Mrs. Fred Kukuk, Mrs. Frank Brink, Mrs. Claude Kieffer, Mrs. Harold Osterhout, Mrs. Horton Pierson and little Mildred Davis. A duet, "Do Your Love Me" and "School Day Sweethearts" by Mr. and Mrs. William Hookey. Dancing followed for which the music was furnished by Sylvia Montarini at the piano and Wesley Parish with his violin.

The visitors were given a trip Saturday to the Ashokan reservoir, the Riffon dam and served a chicken supper. Rain interfered with viewing the fireworks at East Kingston. A number of the visitors attended the church services on Sunday morning and after expressing their appreciation of the most enjoyable time given them they were escorted to Kingston Point from where they sailed on the Hudson River Day Line boat to their homes in Long Island.

The guests were Ronald Raynor, master; Merwin Tillinghast, steward; Mrs. Edward Collins and daughters, Evelyn and Nellie; Mrs. Edwards, Mrs. Hannah Smith, Mrs. Ida Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Semon and daughter, Julia; Mrs. Lillian Schaefer and daughter, Dorothy; Charles Smith, the Misses Barbara and Anna Keck.

Financial and Commercial

New York, June 30 (AP)—Establishment of a new high record since 1920 by Southern Pacific common at 117 1/2 featured today's dull and irregular stock market. The general list alternately blew hot and cold, with selling pressure particularly severe against many of the motors, oils and railroad equipments concerning which trade news has been unfavorable.

The market experienced a rather sharp sinking spell during the morning, as bear traders hammered away at some of the recent favorites after the marking up of the call money renewal rate to five per cent. The declines in many issues ran from two to six points, but these were recovered, at least in part, after mid day, when rallying tendencies were quite pronounced. A sharp advance in wheat prices, presumably based on expectations that the Kessinger Bill has been definitely discarded by the Illinois Legislature, had a bullish effect.

Weakness of the railroad equipment followed the publication of a poor annual report by the American Car and Foundry Company, which disclosed the necessity of digging into surplus to pay the common dividend. Baldwin broke nearly six points, but rallied briskly on short covering.

Selling of the motors was accompanied by rumors that Ford planned to enter the heavy truck field, and that other companies were likely to follow the Nash cut in prices. Reports of an early merger of the Hudson and Packard companies lacked verification. Jordan and Willys-Overland touched new 1927 lows.

Despite the temporary stringency in credit conditions, several pools continued their operations in a large scale. Air Reduction was bid up 4 points and a good demand was apparent for Collins and Altkman. International Match preferred and several others. Interest in the rails was divided between the accumulation of Southern Pacific and the activity of some of the low priced shares, particularly New Haven and New York, New York, Ontario & Western. Reading and Union Pacific also received good buying support.

Quotations given by Parker, McElroy & Co., members N. Y. Stock Exchange, 120 Broadway, New York city, branch office, 260 Fair street, Kingston, N. Y. Phone 285.

New Community In Black Hills

Tents and Cabins Pop Up Among The Birches Near The State Game Lodge—Community Center Being Rushed To Completion.

Rapid City, S. D., June 30 (AP)—The Summer White House is becoming the hub of a new community in the Black Hills.

Tents and cabins are popping up among the birches bordering the main streams near the State Game Lodge in mushroom growth fashion. Carpenter's hammers and saws sing out busily throughout the day breaking the stillness of the forest.

Along Squaw Creek, around the bend from the lodge, a community center is being rushed to completion. Everywhere things are humming in fulfillment, it seems, of President Coolidge's remark to a South Dakotan on his way out here that "It is seldom quiet where the President is."

A steady stream of tourists from states near and far are coming into the hills in automobiles loaded with household effects, and nearly all like to pause for a night amid the mountains in the shadow of the Summer White House.

The White House family itself comprises a little community, housed as it is in cabins and tents near the Game Lodge.

Three times a day members of the party hasten to Mother Gideon to appease appetites whetted by mountain air and sometimes at night a courier who calls himself "Paul Revere," dashes from cabin to cabin to spread the word that Mother Gideon has arranged for a dance at her pavilion.

Mother Gideon is Mrs. Cecil Gideon, wife of President's Coolidge's South Dakota guide, and she is as well loved and known as the Black Hills themselves.

Paris reports the discovery of a starfish which is said to have the same quality of a Stradivarius to an ordinary fiddle. We have been assured here that gives the true quality of a sea lion to a leather room heater.

SOMETHING ABOUT LIVER

SCIENTIFIC research, together with many practical tests over long and short periods, show that liver appetizingly cooked and served frequently tends to increase the count of red corpuscles in the blood. A diet rich in liver is now being given in leading institutions as a corrective of anemia and ailments of such character.

Calif's liver is considered a great delicacy and as such is high-priced in most markets. Young pig's liver, young beef and lamb are very acceptable and are lower in price.

For those who are not familiar with the methods of cooking liver, the following recipes will be helpful:

Baked Liver.

Have the liver cut into inch or inch and a half slices. Cut gashes lengthwise three-fourths of an inch deep. Lay strips of fat salt pork into these gashes. Have ready a well-greased baking dish. Place in the baking dish a layer of thinly sliced onions to the depth of an inch and one-half. Lay the larded liver on the onions, completely covering, dust with salt, pepper and flour, then pour over a pint of stewed and strained tomato. Put into a hot oven; when the tomato juice begins to boil cover and reduce the heat. From that point bake for one hour in a moderate oven.

Calif's Liver Braised.

Lard the rounded side of the liver with pork (salt). Fry one onion in salt pork fat. Put the liver and fried onion into a baking pan, add hot water or stock to half cover, one teaspoonful of salt, one saltspoonful of pepper and one tablespoonful of herbs. Cover and cook in a moderate oven two hours, basting often. When ready to serve, strain the liquor, season with lemon juice and pour it over the liver.

Potted Liver.

Braise a calf's liver as above. When tender, cut fine and pound to a paste, adding enough of the strained liquor in which it was cooked to moisten it; add one-half cupful of butter melted, rub through a sieve after mixing well pack into jars and cover with melted butter. Keep in a very cool place.

Beware of the Tempter

By EVELYN GAGE BROWNE

"A BIRD in the hand is worth two in the bush," Is a saying that's old but true, And if you're full of pep and "push" It surely applies to YOU.

The job you have that is sure today Is worth your very best, And if you give it—it's bound to pay A whole lot more than the rest.

They are only promises hazy and dim In fields untrod and new; And your present Boss, if you stick to him, Will as surely stick to you.

So beware of the man who hands you a line Of bluff and flattery stuff, To tempt you to leave a job, that's fine, With the words, "You're not getting enough!"

For that's the time when it isn't wise To see yourself as a Star, Through some one else's nearsighted eyes— YOU'RE JUST WHAT YOU KNOW YOU ARE!

It's what's within that makes success, And can't keep a good man down; And it rests with YOU—no more, no less— And not with the job nor the town.

So give your best RIGHT WHERE YOU ARE, Your brain, your heart and soul— Then "hitch your wagon to a star" And you're bound to reach your goal.

FOR THE GANDER—

At a party do not try to cover too much territory. It's a wise boy that keeps on knowin' his own girl.

There's two ways of bein' rich—havin' more than you want and not wantin' more than you have.

All women love to get flowers. But they mostly prefer some'n useful.

Never find fault with a woman you love. Go on assumin' she's perfect. But have it clearly understandin' you won't stray even for perfection.

By assumin' that she's perfect, you will naturally avoid bein' a woman anything for her own good. (Copyright)
